I?m surprised noone else has already tabbed this song out. It?s 5 years old, or something like that, but in my opinion, it?s Alanis? best song ever!

Listen to the cd for the strumming/picking pattern. Written in tab form it goes something like this.

 (And you?re)
   like        a   90?s            Jesus              And you revel in         your         psychosis     how dare you...?

Bridge: Strum, using the three chords shown above. Follow the same chord order and beat, as in the verses. I?m not 100% sure that these are the chords Nick plays, I think he might be playing a standard open A chord on the 2nd fret, and slightly changing it for each bar. But I play them and they sound fine. :)

3rd Verse: Same as bridge.

Slow the tempo back down to the verse riff, a little before
Alanis sings ?And may God bless you in your travels...?

Lyrics:

And your like a 90?s Jesus
And you revel in your psychosis
How dare you
And you sample concepts like hore d?euvres
And you eat their questions for dessert
Is it just me, or is it hot in here?

And your like a 90?s Kennedy
And you?re really a million years old
You can?t fool me
They?ll throw opinions like rocks in riots
And they?ll stumble around like hypocrites
Is it just me, or is it dark in here?

Well you may never be or have a husband
You may never have or hold a child
You will learn to lose everything
We are temporary arrangements

High yah da dye....

And your like a 90?s Noah
And they laughed at you
as you packed all of your things
And they wonder why you?re frustrated
And they wonder why you?re so angry
Is it just me, or are you fed up?

High yah da dye...

And may God bless you in your travels
In your conquest and queries

High yah da dye...
